Base URL:

Upload OpenURL button: Choose File No file chosen Upload

If your institution has a local link server such as OpenURL, you can choose to display OpenURL reference links to your institution's users by entering the location of your link server below. The link server URL should be entered as a complete URL, beginning with "http://" and without a terminating "/" or "?".

You can also upload a customized button which will be used to indicate OpenURL reference links. This button must be 85 pixels wide and 20 pixels high.

For more information on OpenURL linking go to <http://www.openurlgroup.com/categories/dispatch/>.

If you wish to disable OpenURL linking after enabling it, simply click "Disable OpenURL linking".

Trusted Proxy Server (TPS) setup wizard

You are managing TPS Server [ ]

Please fill in the form below and click the button below to set up your Trusted Proxy Server.

Description:
1. IP address (or IP range) of your institution's server:
(this is the IP address from where the user will access the publisher site through TPS)

Value:
Value:  thru:
(leave the second field blank if there is only one IP address)

2. Domain [optional]:
(If the above IP address is shared with multiple web-sites, then an extra parameter 'domain' is needed to distinguish this site from the rest.)

3. The banner text you would like to display at the top of every page who gets access through this TPS.
(This is the same message that needs to be displayed at the top of every page of your institution.)

4. Full URL of the journal that you wish to grant access to.
(This is normally the full URL of the List of Issues page of the journal)

5. Full URL of an error page that users will be directed to, when they fail to authenticate.
(This URL is normally hosted on your web-site with an explanation of what can be done to address this problem)

6. Choose the programming language in which you would like us to generate the TPS code.
Java/ASP [ ]

When you press the button below, we will configure the system to setup your TPS access. The following page will generate the TPS code in the language of your choice. Then:

- Copy this code and put it on your server as a file name. Find out the URL of this file.
- Direct your users to the above URL to access the online content.
